Graduation

Whether graduates were receiving the pins and acorns that symbolized their "roots," or looking at their diplomas that will give them their "wings," this year's graduation ceremony was all about helping graduates to remember where they came from, let them know how far they can go, and how to connect the two by remembering their "roots and wings."

Dearest Jenna,
 We are so proud of you and the person you have become. Your thoughtful and kind nature, your warm and friendly personality, your generosity of spirit and empathy for others. These qualities are only some of what makes you so special. Congratulations on this achievement, we are incredibly proud of you.

Love,
 Mommy and Daddy

Jenna Palmquist

Matt,
 Blink!! It seems that just a few weeks ago we watched you march into Weber Chapel with your class for convocation. We were so excited for you. We knew that you were ready, but of course we had the usual parents' apprehension. There was absolutely no need to worry. With your usual confidence and ability to create a positive experience, you maximized your undergraduate years; you cultivated a truly wonderful group of life-long friends, you contributed and participated in the community, and you had a solid performance on your academics. It gives us great comfort and satisfaction to know that you have built a firm foundation for your next endeavors. Congratulations on a tremendous four years.

Gregory,

As a very proud SU alum, you will always have fond memories not only of your accomplishments in the classroom and on the lacrosse field, but also of the many lasting friendships that have developed over the past four years.

Your many talents will continue to open up many paths with many opportunities.

As you take the next steps in life's journey remember to...

Always keep your confidence -- for it allows you to take risks and not be afraid to fail.

Always keep your sense of humour -- for it always allows you to make mistakes and learn from them.

Always keep your respect for yourself and for all others -- it allows for loyal and lasting friendships.

Gregory, you know that we have always been proud of the person you are and of your outstanding accomplishments. Continue to make the most of each and every day with fun and laughter.

All Our Love,

It Seems like just yesterday when you told us that this was the college of your choice, that you must go here because it was small, Unique, beautiful, and it was the one for you. It felt So right. We visited once, twice, three times, asked a lot of Questions; it was a done deal. It seems like just yesterday when we first dropped you off, the car was Unloaded, and you began your college experience. You hit the ground running, took advantage of Every opportunity the college offered -- you played music, got a job, Handled a full class load, met some wonderful people. It seems like just yesterday when you Announced that you were going to join a sorority, join SIFE, add two New minors to your major, and study abroad your junior year! The little college with the big Name could not have been a better choice for you! All the yesterdays have brought you to where you are today.

Keleigh Ann,
 It is difficult to believe that your undergraduate experience at Susquehanna has come to a close. Your Dad, in particular, will always treasure the memories associated with the College Road Trip of 2004, visiting 13 schools in six states. It seems like only yesterday when we dropped off a reluctant and anxious teenager in the summer of 2005. We are so very proud of all that you have accomplished. We are even more proud of the mature young woman that you have become. Your independent spirit, your innate curiosity, and your perseverance, have made you our "shining star." Your unselfish devotion to volunteerism and your kind heart has taken you from Pennsylvania to Washington D.C., and ultimately to New Orleans. Your adventurous spirit drove you to spend a semester abroad in Ireland, the country of your ancestors. Susquehanna was not only the best fit for you as a student, but the quality and courage of the professors and administrators and friends drove you to discover yourself as a person. The lifelong friendships and the eminence of the friends and families that we have come to know through your association with the university are invaluable. We have grown to love your friends, your roommates, your sisters at Sigma Kappa, but in particular Cassie, Kristina, Sarah, and Mark. They are certainly like family to us. We taught you at a very young age to reach for the stars; in our eyes you have now become one. Congratulations to our "shining star."
